

Home Learning (Homework) Policy

(Ratified by School Council: June 2022)

PURPOSE:

Home Learning is developed to complement and reinforce classroom content, while building positive study habits that will assist students to become lifelong learners.

Home Learning Tasks provide an opportunity for connections to be made between the home and the classroom. Parents and families can have input into their child's learning, but it is ultimately the responsibility of the student to complete the assigned home learning tasks.

GUIDELINES:

Glen Waverley Primary School will work with students and their parents/guardians to establish positive Home Learning patterns from the first year of school. Students from Years Prep-3 will use Home Learning diaries to facilitate regular communication between parents and the school; diaries will be electronic in Years 4, 5 and 6. Home Learning will be guided by the school's Guiding Statements and intercultural priorities with the Home Learning policy made available to all families. Teachers will follow up with parents if a student regularly does not complete Home Learning.

Home Learning should be appropriate to the student's skill level and age, while being purposeful, and relevant to the curriculum. Home Learning will include open ended tasks where appropriate to cater to a range of learning needs.

Home Learning is assessed by teachers with feedback and support provided.

IMPLEMENTATION:

Home Learning:

- is based on a Whole School Approach, in a consistent format
- will complement classroom, curriculum and independent student learning goals
- includes daily reading for pleasure and purpose
- will begin on the first Friday of term
- will be distributed each Friday thereafter (excluding the last day of term), and will be due for completion on the following Friday, allowing 7 days for completion
- will not be given during school holiday periods
- may include the completion of unfinished learning
- will reflect a range of curriculum learning areas

The volume and complexity of Home Learning and the time required to complete it will increase as the child progresses into higher year levels. – Refer to "Successful Practice" Page 2.

Home Learning will aim to strike a balance with a range of recreational, family and cultural activities.

Completion of Home Learning is the student's responsibility.

Additional or modified Home Learning tasks may be made available to cater for individual student learning needs, at the teacher's discretion and in consultation with the family.

Setting students up for success with Home Learning

Families can help students with their Home Learning by:

- encouraging a regular daily session to examine and complete Home Learning
- discussing key questions or suggesting resources to help with Home Learning
- helping to balance the time spent between Home Learning and recreational activities
- asking how home and class learning is progressing, with a focus on acknowledging success
- attending school events, productions or displays their child is involved in
- talking to teachers about Home Learning tasks and expectations
- checking if Home Learning has been set
- listening to their child read aloud
- discussing their child's responses to set texts and asking to see their completed Home Learning
- discussing Home Learning with their child in their first language, if English is not the main language spoken at home, and linking it to previous experiences
- linking Home Learning and other learning tasks to their family's culture, history, language and everyday life.
